EXPERTISE AND INTERESTS

Create lessons that are interdisciplinary, student centered, project-based, arts integrated	Provide trauma-informed instruction	Build rapport with students & families to create an inclusive culture of learning	Empower students to analyze, evaluate, critique, create	Connect classroom with community, environment, and social justice issues
---	-------------------------------------	---	---	--

SUMMARY

I am passionate about engaging all ages in creative experiences that foster self-expression and learning. Since 2000 I have worked as an environmental educator and entrepreneurial artist creating exhibitions that travel to airports and museums around the US. This public education has always included working with children in schools, camps, and after-school programs. In 2015 I was trained in arts integration through Young Audiences and the Right Brain Initiative, using creative experiences to help students learn and reflect on other curricular subjects. Inspired by my love of teaching and learning, I attained my teaching certificate in May 2021, and will have my New Mexico teaching license in fall 2022. I also use arts integration with adults in decolonization trainings.
